- a. Budget Review: Renee Holden shared current budget information. We are currently waiting for the 2018/2019 budget funds to appear. There is approximately $10,000 left until mid-August. A list of items with large amounts of holds is produced every two weeks. Hold lists are including more audio than in previous time periods. Audio has also increased in price.
- b. Status of Overdrive and CARL: CARL had a go-live date of May 29. TLC wanted a list of priorities from TLN after the go-live date, including Acquisitions, MeLCat and Overdrive. Overdrive is third after Acquisitions and MeLCat. As of yet, there is no date for integration of Overdrive records into CARL.
- c. Other Business: Brad Reuter from Clarkston-Independence stated that Clarkston is using the cost-per-circ (CPC) model with Overdrive, mostly for holds management. The current cap is 3 CPC titles per patron per month. When patrons hit this limit, an error message appears, but this message is not clear or helpful. Brad has asked that we raise the CPC limit and suggests 8-10 titles/patron/ month. Jim Flury speculates that the CPC model will increase in prominence and that Overdrive will add additional publishers to the CPC model. A proposal was put forward to the committee that we raise the CPC limit to 6 items/patron/month. The E-Content Users Group Committee voted to increase the CPC limit in Overdrive to 6 items/patron/month.

RBDigital: Our new RBDigital representative is Mark Haley. Mark will be coming to TLN in August. The new TLN-RBDigital contract will begin April 30, 2019. There are currently 97 libraries in the TLN RBDigital group.

Other Business: Clarkston-Independence just started a Kanopy subscription in July. You can set a certain number of play credits/month with Kanopy. Kanopy is a platform for independent/documentary or foreign films and has a built in license for public viewings.

Ohio has begun a statewide deal with Linda.

No word about the sunset of the Overdrive app.

Next meeting November 1st at Novi Public Library

Adjourn: 11:07 a.m.
